THE MILEAGE QUESTION IN THE HOUSE.

Speech of Thaddeus Stevens in Favor of the Mexican Loan.

> WASHINGTON, June 17, 1866. THE NEW AMENDMENT.

The first official copy of the Constitutional Amendment was sent yesterlay by the Hon. S. L. Warner to Gov. Hawley of Connecticut. It was finally decided by eminent lawyers of both Houses that there was no necessity for the signature of the President, on its being sent by Secretary Seward, who, it is said, would not send unless the President had approved it. The Secretary of the Senate and the Clerk of the House will at once certify to the passage of the amendment and transmit it to the Governors of the various loyal States for their immediate PRIVACY OF LETTERS ON PILE IN GOVERNMENT BU

REAUS.

In a libel suit pending in the Circuit Court of this District, the Hon. Edwin M. Stanton was summoned as a witness to produce an original 1 her addressed to the contains the matter alleged to be libelons. Mr. Stanton put in an affidavit, respectfully submitting his objections to the production of the paper in question, and asking to be discharged from further attendance. The affidavit bore the following indorsement:

"Siz. Letters on file with the Heads of Departments are privileged communications. Unless their publication has been authorized, no copies should be taken at private request, and the production of the original cannot be compelled in a anti-between individuals. It has been rolled that such communications cannot be made the foundation of an action for libel. Then I think the head of a Department is bound not to produce a paper on file in his office. Such a letter as you describe is a privileged communication.

"J. Spress, Attorney-General."

Judge Olin will render a decision on Monday whether the original shall be produced. The letter in question addressed to Mr. Dana impugned the loyalty of the plaintiff. and, as alleged, injured him in his business tranwith the Government.

SUIT AGAINST THE STOCKHOLDERS OF THE MERCHANTS' $$\rm BANK.$

J. G. C. Kennedy, Receiver of the Merchants' National Bank, has commenced a suit against the stockholders of the bank for an amount equal to the par value of their stock, as is provided for by law. It appears that but 318 shares, or $31,800 of the $200,000 capital, is in the hands of the original subscribers of the amount. 213 shares are held by J. W. Maury, who suspended when the bank failed, leaving $10,500 in the name of the original owners, and but a portion of whom are good for a like amount. K. Huyck, President, who held 422 shares, transferred to C A. Sherman, Cashier, 200 shares, and to L. P. Boyne 100 or nearly one-half the bank capital held by the officers, all of whom are insolvent. 450 shares

He was applauded, and closed as follows: "Ladies engaged in this work should not weary in it. Their troubles and embarrassments will redound to the glory of the American nation. They are pouring oil into the wounds of a great people, and doing what the Savior did when he said, 'suffer le children to come unto me; when these orphans grow up they will stand where their fathers stood, stand by the flag of this nation, which is to be the prevailing flag of the world. The people of Nevada contributed to the sanitary fund three deliars in gold for every man and women in the territory, but they felt better after giving. We are only stewards holding in trust what we possess, and responsible for its right use. It seems to me that in the day of final judgment if a man could say, I gave of my subsistence what I could to the soldiers' orphan, it would cover a multitude of sins, and he would hear the welcome words: "Inasmuch as thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things." [Great applause.]

Horace Maynard followed in a brief and patriotic speech. Among the curiosities on exhibition are the Andersonville relies, consisting of dishes that were used by our prisoners while there; a mail box, the dead line, and the original " Death Register" kept by Dorence Atwater.

rapidly increase each succeeding year. Estimating cotton at 20 cents per pound, this yield would be an addition of $24,000,000 to the national wealth in raw cotton alone, to say nothing of the product of corn and other articles upon the plantations. The sum of $1,000,000 would be sufficient, and the product of the tax on the raw cotton alone, even at present rates, would in two years exceed the whole sum for which an appropriation is solicited.

XXXIXTH CONGRESS.

FIRST SESSION. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Washington, Saturday, June 16, 1866. Immediately after the reading of the journal Mr. Morrilla stated that he believed this would be the last day of the session that would be devoted to general discussion, and he hoped members would make the most of it, and that they would be prepared to work every other day of the session, which he hoped would now be very short.

that they would be prepared to work every other day of the session, which he hoped would now be very short.

Mr. Garfield gave notice that he would, next Monday, offer a resolution directing the Committee on Mileage to examine and report what discrepancy, if any, there was between the amount of mileage secured by members of last Congress and the amount claimed by them, and directing the Committee to allow no more mileage in future to a member than is claimed by him. He explained the reason why he wished the resolution to be adopted. On looking into the Executive Document No. 123, showing the pay and mileage of members for last Congress, he found himself set down as being paid for 2,710 miles of travel, being for 685 miles four times, whereas he had only claimed, in answer to the circular sent him by the Chairman of the Committee on Mileage, 565 miles as the distance from his home to Washington; that multiplied by four would make the number of miles for which he should be paid 2,260, so that he was paid for 450 miles more than he had claimed. Drawing his mileage in sums of $50 and $100 at a time, he did not notice this discrepancy, and it was only on referring to the document that he became aware of the fact. He found now, on inquiry, that other members from Ohio, and perhaps from all parts of the country, had been allowed more mileage than they had claimed for only 510 miles, and was allowed for 644, and his colleague (Mr. Schenck) claimed for only 689 miles, and was allowed for $12. The letters in which they stated the number of miles, "Approved, J. W. W." (The mains of Mr. White (Ohio), Chairman of the Committee on Mileage, he found in the room of the Sergeant-at-Arms, and indersed with the increased number of miles, "Approved, J. W. W." (The mains of Mr. White (Ohio), Chairman of the Committee on Mileage, he find the lance due him on the last day of Congress, the discrepancy, and had declined to receive the increased amount. It appears that the Committee on Mileage had in this way a scale of distance of the ask unanimous consent to effer the resolution directing the Committee on Mileage to inquire into the matter.

Mr. Dawrs surgested jocularly that the extra mileage allowed may have been for the distances traveled by members while passing between the tellers when voting.

RECONSTRICTION.

No business being in order, except general debate on the President's Annual Message, Mr. JULIAN made a speech in favor of the Congressional plan of reconstruction.

Mr. Stevens gave notice of his intention to offer the following resolution:

shares, or nearly one-half the bank capital hold by the officers, all of whom are insolvent. 450 shares were transferred by responsible parties after it was known that the bank must suspend, and it is the intention of the Receiver to hold parties who transferred, it their victims cannot pay their quota. The National Mechanics Bank of Baltimore held 300 shares as collaterals, but had them transferred to them on the books of the bank, so they are liable for the amount. The National Bank of the Method of C. A. Sherman, Cashier, transferred in blank. In default of the noise being pald they were to own the stock. This may give rise to brigation. If events show the bank goes on and is responsible for the amount, it is not improbable that the Receiver may realize out of the stockholders from $40,000 te $60,000. It is conjectured that the bank will eventually pay from 15 to 30 cents on the dollar.

Owing to the unavoidable absence of both Grinnell and Rousseau, who will be gone for a week, there will be not stationary taken for a week in the case of the recent assault.

give just cause of war to Maximilian should concern no other nation. Other Powers might aid Maximilian with-out being responsible to any but the Republic of Mexico. We or others might aid that Republic, being responsible only to the ascrping Empire. Without being aggressive, it is the duty of this nation to make its moral power felt among nations. Diplomatic essays, however smoothly written which valde exerctions. among nations. Diplomatic essays, however amouthly written, which yield everything and command nothing, add little to the force of a nation, but rather invite insult and scorn. Why do we allow our avowed principle to be disregarded by any Power? It only needs the fact of this great Reginable to decide the fate of the Empire of Maximilian! What a blunder, what a crime to be content with a promise to withdraw the invading army in eighteen months! Before that time, unnided Mexico will be ground to atoms, and republicanism in that beautiful portion of the continent will be among the things that were. If it is not intended to dime, unnided Mexico will be ground to atoms, and republicanism in that beautiful pertion of the continent will be among the things that were. If it is not intended to maintain the Monroe Doctrine, it ought to be abandoned with dignity as an inconsiderate error. If it be deemed important to the safety and the country, then there should be no yielding, no time-serving, no timid policy. In my indigment it is a principle vital to the safety of this Republic, and our honor is concerned to see that it be not violated. Frinciples of government, like discass, are contagous. The monarchies of Europe combine to suppress democratic revolutions at every point, lest they should spread and work the final overthrow of absolute governments. So ought we to take care that no despotic government should touch our borders lest the leproxy might spread and pollute the continent. Hence there was wisdom in the declaration that no foreign nation should establish a throne on this continent against the consent of the people of Mexico was a frand, so far as the consent of the people of Mexico was concerned. That Repable has been oppressed by foreign bayonets. The Mexicans who form any portion of the Imperial Government might well rank with Southern Secessionists. Beside being a monarchy, the Empire is a barbarian government. The decree by which all true men found lighting for their country are to be instantly executed, and which is being carried into effect, stamps the government as savage, barbarian and outside the pale of civilization. It is worse than the ancient governments of Tripoli, Tanis and Algiers, which the civilized would held to be a nest of pirates and enemies to the human race. As then such a loan could not be a just cause of war with any foreign nation, is it expedient to grantit? It is very clear that without such foreign aid, republicanism in Mexico must be crushed out and a monarchy established. Juntz then such a long could not be a just cause of war with any foreign nation, is it expedient to grantit! It is very clear that without such foreign aid, republicanism in Mexico must be crushed out and a monarchy established. Juarez has persevered with a courage and fortitude unparalleled in modern history. I know nothing to compare with it but the unyielding endurance and faith of William of Orange. But in the most of a horde of traitors, sustained by one of the most powerful nations of Europe, the resources of distracted Mexico must become exhausted. I believe new, while President Juarez could command menenugh, his material of war is well nigh expended. Unless a foreign loan can be precured, I do not see how any respectable army can be kept on foot. Twenty millions of dollars could be easily advanced by us on the mortgage of Lower California, Schora, Sinalea or Chihuahua, which would make it persecily safe. If it should provoke a war with Meximilians I suppose nobedy would be much alarmed. It would give the Great Republic an opportunity to vindicate her honor, which have become dim under the Micawber policy of our Foreign Secretary. In vindicating that honor we should increase and consolidate the strength of the nation. I trust our able Committee on Foreign affairs will soon take some decisive steps on this most important question.

Theodore Tilton in Washington.

Theodore Tilion in Washington.

Mr. Theodore Tilton, who is on a visit to Washington, made a speech on Friday. Among other good things he said this:

To-day, looking at the dome of the Capitol, I said to myself, "Unto what can it be compared, except to St. Peter's at Rome." But St. Peter's at Rome was originally drafted by Michael Angelo for a greater and fairer structure than the architect was allowed to erect. The great plan was dwarfed. There are authors and planners in Congress of a scheme of reconstruction as full orbed as Michael Angelo's dome, but the President will not allow it to be built. Nevertheless it must be built, President or no President, Congress or no Congress. Let both ends of the avenue take heed that the party of justice, the party of liberty, is the party that controls the conscience of the nation, and will sooner or later control its policy. Gentlemen in Washington! be it known unto you that you shall never have rest for the soles of your feet until your legislation shall be squared, every jot and tittle, according to the great rule of equal rights. [Applause.] I know the world was not built in a day. I know this realization of a reconstructed Union cannot be had by a more wishing. But I know that, sooner or later, God means to give it to this nation. It is written in heaven that the fairest nation on earth shall be modeled on no meaner plan. Keep the glowing ideal, therefore, in your minds. Seek to achieve it—be content with nothing less. Out of the broken fragments of 11 disrupted States reconstruct a Union on the basis of a Chistian democracy; otherwise your work will perish—otherwise it ought to perish. enlightened as to the means adopted to fight the law.

THE EXCISE LAW AND LAGER BEER.

In the Common Pieus Chambers on Saturday, before Judge Cardozo, the case of Paul Faik agt. Jockson Schuitz and others, was in its main features similar to that brought by Mr. Holt against the Excise and Police Commissioners. It differs, however, in some points. Among other differences his complaint claims "that lager beer is neither strong nor aprill acous, but is a beverage of which the human stomach cashot contain a sufficient quantity to intoxicate." Another difference is that his hissines permitted the dispensing of food and lager beer on Sunday. "to travelers said others coming mostly from other wards in the said City of New-York than the ward in which the plaintiff splace of business was stirnted." He therefore claims that the shutting up of his place of business on Sundays, as well as after 12 octooks will work him irreparable injury. His affidiavit sets forth that "his place of business has acquired an enviable character " particularly for the manner in which it has been conducted at night, and at late hours of the night, at which have sit has been much resorted to by gentiemer and ladder private societies, "&c. and also," for the manner in which it has been conducted an Sundays, when it has been chickly recorded to by German-born or bred cocale, when mostly come in families of men, women and children, to partake of lager beer, a very healthy and harmless is worth $\circ{2}{2}$. On a week net $\circ{2}{2}$ and that his Sunday and affectivelve business is worth $\circ{2}{2}$.
